- to get paid for the specified work;
- to get paid for extras;
- not be liable to your client for more than you
- to convince your client that you are a competent and

The version of this document you will need for one client might be quite different from what you need for another. It is a good idea to keep this full version and take a copy of it to edit for each client.

2. Background and Specification

Enter name of company if you work

Do make sure you write a specification. No special words, no special language, no rules. It can be one sentence of ten words or ten pages of work. The purpose is to make sure there is nothing to argue about later. Use the specification also to write

You are not going to order a skip.

You are not going to take away spare

The annexe window is not included in the

You are not replacing the boiler and so on . . .

You can also use the Specification to cover extras.

“Work not specified in this document shall be treated as extra work and charged at . , .”

Make sure you include your price in the .

Final points about this contract:

remember to attach the Specification to this contract.

make sure your client has signed the contract.

make sure you have dated the contract
